VICTORS, $125. THE FIRST BREAK IN THE HIGH-

PRICE BRIGADE. THE OVERMAN WHEEL COMPANY

SPRINGFIELD, Nov. 22.-After all the debate which has gone on regarding the price of '94 model wheels, the first of the leaders in the trade to boldly announ for the ensuing year is the Overman the fact that Victors for '94 will be listed at $125 instead of $150. This price applies only after January 1, 1804. The action of the Chicopee Falls people will force the other leaders in the trade to show their hands and announce their plans and prices for the ensuing year, as the Overman Wheel Company has done. This will be an advantage to every one connected with sport. what prices were to be demanded next year great makers has had a particularly effect upon a trade which is at present more in need of stimulation than it of any retarding treatment at the hands of those who control it. With all the talk regarding next season's prices which has gone on for the past three months, the buyer has declined to even consider the pur-chase of his next season's mount until he knew something definite regarding the price thereof, while the dealer, himself in the dark regarding the same, has also refused to lay any plans for the future until he was in possession of something more substantial We believe the Overman Company by announcing the price of upon the whole of cycling from a standpoint of sport as well as trade. With Victors in the market at $125 it will be a bold maker who will announce a higher fig-ure without a great deal of thought upon the subject. The Overman Company has prices which will cause an awful scattering cover on the part of the small fry who have heretofore been waiting to see what the big guns intended doing. It looks as though the Victor next year again intended to "make the pace" as its makers have al-

THE DISTRICT

Were Remembered at the Marine Band Concert Last Night.

CONVENTION HALL WAS CROWDED

And an Excellent Program Was Greatly Enjoyed.

EXPECT TO REALIZE $4,000.

Never have the citizens of Washington responded so generously to any entertainment in behalf of charity as was the case at the concert by the Marine Band at Con-ABANDONS OLD PRICES AND ANNOUNCES ITS 'H PRICES-THE HANDWRITING ON THE WALL FOR THE
the Marine Band that drew the crowd, although every Washingtonian has a pride in this excellent organization, but it was the fact that people felt and realized that on account of the general hard times and early commeacement of cold weather there is more suffering and distress among the poor of this city than ever before. It was a knowledge of this fact that induced Col. Heyword, the commander of the Marine corps, to ask the assistance of the newspapers, after the members of the band had tendered their services in making the arrangements for the concert and thus insuring its financial success. It was a belief on the part of the newspaper men, who were selected to act as a committee on fort a handsome sum could be realized, that induced them to call upon the District Commissioners and ask those gentlemen to allow the police and firemen to sell the tickets.

Commissioners and Citizens Interest

The Commissioners heartily indorsed the movement, readily gave the desired permission, and how well both policemen and firemen did their work was manifest in the immerse crowd that scught admission at Convention Hall last night. In making their arrangements the committee met with hearty encouragement from every class of citizens. Mr. Stilson Hutchins, in behalf of the Northern Liberty Market Company generously donated the hall. Mr. Rufus Darby gave all the printing of posters and tickets, both admission and reserved. Mr. L. Moxley saw that the post-ers were properly put up so that they would attract the public notice. Messrs. Roginski & Lewis painted two signs to at-tract attention to the fact that reserved seats were on sale at Ellis & Co.'s musi Sohmer grand plano that was used, Mr. M. J. Coolahan provided the carriages for the ladies who participated in the program. Mr. Julius Lansburgh loaned the chairs for the use of the band, which were carried to the hall by Wright's hall by Wright's express, and M. G. Copeland & Co. provided what decoration the stage needed.

Prizes Offered. Besides those gentlemen who generously acceded to every request that the committee made of them five prizes were given to incite the policemen and firemen to more than ordinary individual effort in disposing of the tickets. Thees prizes were as follows: A silver watch by Galt Bros., a silver watch by Mr. J. Karr, a gentleman's gold locket, with a diamond, by Harris & Reisinger is still at it, 235 G st. n. w., and makes the best Pound and Fruit Cakes. Candles, Ice Cream, all of the best quality, for the holidays. Try our Springerlers. Prices reasonable for pure goods. of both the police and fire force is evident from the efforts made. The returns are not in yet and Major Moore says it can not yet be determined which precinct did the best work, but it is believed that the honor les between the first and third. As lies between the first and third. As to individual effort that is still a matter of conjecture, for the men have kept their own counsel, but some of them are thought to have personally disposed of many hundred tickets. The officer who secured the check for $100 from the minister of the Argentine Republic will undoubtedly stand a good show for a prize. The Waiting Crowd. Long before the doors were opened there was a crowd of several hundred people at was thronged with visitors charmed with the delicious and healthful beverage, Choco-lat-Menier. Try it at Geo. E. Kennedy & Sons, 1200 F st. and 1116 Conn. ave., daily, this week. body wanted to be early and get a good position. When the doors were finally thrown open there was a good deal of hustling and jostling, but Lieut. Teeple and a good force of officers soon brought matters into an orderly shape and the people poured into the hall. There were two doorkeepers at the main entrance and one to keepers at the main entrance and one to the gallery and they had their time fully occupied in taking the tickets that were thrust into their hands. Less experienced men would have been rattled, but these gentlemen kept cool and admonished the people that they would all get there in good time. time.

The High School Cadets acted as ushers and were remarkably efficient. They had a difficult task, for after the hall began to fill up there were many who wanted to go beyond the reserved line. The cadets were courteous but firm, however, and managed to keep the reserved portion intact until it was certain that no more of the seats would be called for by coupons and then by direction of the committee some of the crowd that was standing were permitted to take the vacant chairs. It was a good-natured crowd and although at times there was a jam there were no hard feelthere was a jam there were no hard feel-ings and no uncomfortable incidents. The Immense Audlence.

The audience comprised every class of citizens, although the popular element predominated. In the reserved seats were Commissioner and Mrs. Ross, a large number of the officers of the United States marine corps and their families, and many people well known in official and social circles. There were also many musical people present, interested in the work that the band would do, and all these expressed satisfaction with the efforts of both band and the others who took part in the program. But of the 7,000 persons who were in the hall the great majority were unable to appreciate the severe classical numbers, and to them the more popular selections furnished the greater amount of enjoyment. The Work of the Band. The program was published in full in The Star yesterday. The band numbers were largely selected to show the improvement that has been made in the higher order of musical interpretation, and in that respect Symphony, the "Peer Gynt" suite, the intermezzo from "I Pagliacci" and the beautiful ballet music from "Hamlet" were all given with an artistic finish that was renarkable in a mintary band, and in this respect the Marine Band does not suffer in omparison even with Mr. Sousa's larger organization. There was a delicacy phrasing, particularly in the symphony, the second movement of the "Peer Gynt" and in the intermezzo that was very gratifying musicians, and evidenced the high capability of Prof. Fanciulii, the conquetor. But it was in the encores and in the new Marine Band March and "A Night in Bonemia" that the band moved the popular heart. "The Grand Army Patrol" was particularly effective and was loudly applauded. The Marine Band March and "A Night in are new compositions by Prof. Fanciulli, and were heard last night for the time. They were both weil received, and after the former Prof. Fanciulli was here was a quartet of French horns that was well executed, and the flute solo by Mr. Jaeger and the cornet solo by Mr. Haina were very happily received.

The Vocal Numbers. There were but two vocal numbers upon the program, although the encores increased them to five. The first was Gillett's "Loin du Bale," arranged for the Philharsustained its high reputation and completely manded, and an arrangement of the "Old Oaken Bucket" by Mr. Harris was given. There was still a demand for more, and soprano voice of pure tone, good range and power and quite flexible, which she handled in a manner that indicated intelligent study. Sig. Maina is well known as a baritone of more than ordinary power and artistic method. As an encore the last phrase of the duet was repeated. Mr. Harry W. Howard was an efficient accompanist.

Expect to Realize $4,000. Altogether the concert was the biggest and most successful affair of the kind ever given in the District. The committee are confident that they will be able to turn over to the District Commissioners at least $4,000, to be added to the police fund for listribution to the poor.

A GUIDE TO SHOPPERS.

What is Suitable for Christmas Pres ents and Where to Go to Get Them.

It is puzzing to most people to decide what to get for Christmas. It is all very well when only one or perhaps two presents are to be purchased, but when the number runs up then the average man or woman is in despair. Just at this point The Evening those who have shopping to do. Former chapters have been published, but the following will also be found to be of value as a shopping guide:

Every department of Clarke's, Nos. 734 and 736 7th street, has bargains. The manage-ment say so and ought to know. They say this with consciousness that square dealing with the public brings the best reward. They have thousands of useful presents at cut rates. They announce that their Christmas opening presents to consumers the greatest opportunity of the season. Most of the things that ladies love, cloaks, gloves, handkerchiefs and wrappers, are displayed in the richest profusion. Chenille covers, feather boas and aprons are also set forth in force. Go and see.

The Overman Wheel Company announces that it has broken the standard price on bicycles for the coming year, and will after January 1 sell Victor cycles for $125 instead of $150. This is said to be the first break in the solid phalanx of standard prices here-tofore maintained, and is reported to have caused general satisfaction among dealers and users of cycles. The reduced price will apply to the wheels of the model of 1894. It is a handsome establishment, that of Mr. Freund, the caterer, at 815 10th street, and there is every facility for entertaining banqueters, wedging parties, etc., in the best possible style.
